

HISTORICAL HOUSES - DEMOLITIONS

Duxbury Clipper

Wednesday, February 21, 2001

This historic 18th century home on Surplus Street was substantially demolished because it was declared structurally unsound by the director of inspectional services. Because state building codes regarding structurally unsound buildings supersede local historic commission jurisdiction, the local board's hands were tied despite neighborhood protest.